The Cabinet Changes-The New Ministry-Progress of the Slavery Question—Depar-ure of the American Minister for Europe. RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 25, 1870.

The steamer North America, that came into this port early on the morning of the 19th inst., sails for New York again to-morrow morning. I told you a month ago of the sudden and unexpected dissoluthe Ministry of which Itaborny was at the head. There is accumulated evidence that the statements I made concerning the cause of the dissoluwas a result of want of harmony on the question of the abolition of slavery. The Emperor cherishes this idea of the accomplishment of a peaceful social revolution which shall result in making the empire But for the attention which was engrossed, both on the part of the Ministry and the nation, by the Paraguayan war, tangible steps would probably have been taken before this to accomplish this grand and adable end—the making the nation absolutely and completely free. The Emperor works hard to accomplish this great end against opposition which would discourage many; hence he could not consistently see the closing of the national cham-ters with the Ministry from whom he so radically differed holdly their places, and, therefore, by one of those means that emperors and kings know so well how to employ, he effected a dissolution of the Ministry; in a few days a new one, more closely sympathizing with him, was formed, and in a week the national chambers—the Brazilian Congress—

What the new Ministry propose and what they may do are now only matters of conjecture. The new head is considered a gentleman of advanced ideas, and as he is a man of wealth, will be able to give his attention to some other matters than such as would, firstly, put money into his own pockets, and, secondly, put it into the pockets of his relatives and friends—a course by no means uncommon among Brazilian Prime Ministers. It will be most interesting to watch the progress of events in this question of the abolition of Brazilian savery; how they will be able to secure its gradual abolition; what course will be taken by large landholders and large slaveholders; how it will affect social life or the security of the State, the happiness of the people involved and the future products of the country. These and a multitude of questions arise, the solution of which can be attained only by the tiral of the experiment. There are many who, pointing to the lack of emigration and supply of labor, see only national bankrupter in this movement if it be accomplished, and among those are a number of Southerners from the United States. Indeed, a majority of them are of this faith, and the promise of any good in the country concerning the supply of labor and the cultivation and securing of the crops is so poer that it is undoubtedly a reason why so many of them the (Southerners) have gone and are now intending to return to the United States.

We are to lose our Minister, and, I fear, permanently. Mr. Heary T. Blow and his family, who, during their residence in Biazil, have made a home in Petropolis forty-five milles away, up in the mountains, are expected here every day, to remain only a short time previous to their departure for Europe, while he will procead to the United States for a conference with the government, and. I have little doubt, to lay his portfolio in the hands of the Secterary of State, and resign his position as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from the Brazilian governments decidedly "mixed," and he has completely untravelied them and arranged them in a most satisfactory manner. He tound a st head is considered a gentleman of advanced ideas and as he is a man of wealth, will be able to give CHILE.

The Presidential Campaign-A Lively Time Expected-Probable Choice of the Opposition-Congress-National Wealth of Chile-

There is absolutely nothing of interest to chronicle since the departure of the last steamer from Panama. Political excitement is entirely confined to the pro vincial districts, the capital and Valparatso apparently husbanding their strength and resources until the work of the campaign becomes necessary. The coalition of the different branches of the opposition party, already noted, seems to cause the government supporters a vast amount of uneasiness, the power of the combination being such as to promise very fairly for success. Still no candidates have vet been formally announced, although it is prebable that Mr. Errazurriz will receive the favor of the opposition. Certain it is that the administration will not interfere in the coming elections, and instead of influencing votes by force of arms, will preserve an attitude of strict impartiality.

Congress is busily engaged in discussing matters of purely local importance and interest. The discussion of the estimates made for the expenses of the government is now engrossing the attention of the two houses. As soon as this subject is disposed of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies will take up the question of reforming the constitution-a labor for which this Congress was specially convened. For the action on this highly important matter the entire republic is held in expectation, especially those citizens whose right of franchise by the constitution now existing have been vaguely defined. Foreigners here regard this question with much interest, as it will establish the time and conditions necessary to naturalize and the benefits to be de terest, as it will establish the time and conditions necessary to naturalize and the benefits to be derived from such a step. It is hoped that before the end of the year the new constitution will be proclaimed, and that under its provisions the country may be made even more attractive to foreign capital and industry.

The Maister of Finance has presented a very interesting report, from which may be gathered some facts that prove the advance of commercial transactions in Chile. Copper and silver, always chief articles of export from this country, were shipped in 1863 to the value of $15,000,000, an excess over 1868 of nearly four millions. Flour and grain were also exported in large quantities, the amount being over four millions of dollars, and the total of home products experied is more than thirty-one millions, the imports rising thirty-five millions of hard dollars. One of the most satisfactory facts is that relative to the coasting trade of the republic, its value in 1868 amounting to $40,000,000, or seventeen per cent mere than in the preceding years, the number of vessels employed in this tradic being nearly five hundred, with an aggregate tonnage or one hundred and fift-two thousand. On these figures the Minister builds up pleasing hopes for the intere. The extraordinary mineral wealth of the new discoveries at Caraccles, in Bolivia, is attracting very general attention here. Large numbers of uniners are leaving the northern towns for the El Dorado, and a company formed in Fantings to work some of the mines has its shares afready quoted $1,000 per cent premium. There can be no doubt of the great richness of the ore, specimens having been assayed by expert chemists in re, and the lavorable locality of the mines, being close by the ceast, with good facilities for embarkation, lends additional profit to the undertaking. It is father unfortunate, however, for our own mining interests, since the exedus from Caldera and coptape is such as to almost paralyze the working of the extensive minas in operation in th

Some little increase of activity is noticed in our markets, but the depressing effect of the war news from Europe is still very apparent. Eugers are decidedly in request.

The money market has been increasing in stringency for the past week, and we may expect no improvement until some more definite news is received concerning the great event of the day. The panks have announced no change in their rates by charging a slightly higher discount they a through to limit their operations as much as posfer the present. The only transaction of magnifs the sale of 60,000 quintais of nitrate of sods Europe, at 23 30. Recently a large quantity of article has been exported to the United States. LIMA, Oct. 28, 1870. The rumors of revolution and intestine distur ances, which a few weeks since were so general in Lima, have now almost attogether disappeared. The political aspect of affairs could not be more reassur-ing than it is at the present moment. A sure foreranner of attempts at revolt in Peru is the pub tion of anonymous attacks on the authorities, which, as a general occurrence, are eagerly accepted by a populace naturally inclined to revolution. The appearance of these pasquines, as they are called, some weeks past, created quite an excitement; but, contrary to the expectations of their authors, an exement directed in favor instead of against the government. No difficulty was experienced by the police in discovering the would-be the hespitality of the nation in the cavalry barracks of this city. This offence can only be prosecuted by direct executive measures, as by the conflicting laws upon the subject the offender could readily evade any serious punishment. A more dangerous pro-ceeding was that threatened by the opposition party in Congress, in withdrawing from the Chambers on the day for voting on the Dreyfus contract, leaving the houses without a quorum, and thus very gravely embarrassing the administration. Had course been pursued President Balta would have been obliged to take very decisive steps, and might have provoked an immediate and serious conflict. But, fortunately for the welfare of the country, the mimicable deputies were persuaded to forego their scheme and accept, with as good grace as possible, the strongly expressed will of the majority. By the triumph of the policy of the government on this more than im-

the policy of the government on this more than important financial question all remaining dauger of trouble has passed away, and the administration, amply provided with funds, is able to satisfy its worst enemies, the pensioners on the State, to proceed vigorously with public works in hand and to guarantee a lengthened period of stability.

The very interesting railway from the Pacific to the Peruvian neadquarters of the river Amazen, near the mountain pass of the Oroya, is progressing most satisfactorily. There probably has been no line of railway yet constructed that has offered such formidable obstacles to success, not only from the nature and difficulties of the ground to be traversed, but also from the laber to be incurred in the transportation of materials and the great expense attendant thereon. It must be remembered that Peru cannot be classed in any respect as a producing country. Every article necessary for the construction of railroads has to be imported—even laborers are brought from Chile and China, and sleepers from Oregon and Puget Sound. The very provision necessary for the subsistence of the workmen are brought from either countries. When all of these difficulties, in addition to the fear of internal dissension, formerly chronic in Peru, and the dangers of earthquake, yellow fever and other environments of the production of the courrage and energy of Mf. Meiggs can be valued in their true light.

when all of these difficulties, in addition to the fear of internal dissension, formerly chronic in Peru, and the dangers of earthquake, yellow fever and other enlivening visitants are considered, the courage and energy of Mr. Meiggs cas be valued in their true light.

The line extending between the two points atready mentioned covers a distance of 150 miles, and of this about thirty are new fromed. The most difficult engineering work occurs, of coarse, in the range of the Cordillera, where in one place a tunnel more than a mile leng has to be cut out of the solid rock, at an elevation of over 14,000 feet. The great obstacle to be overcome in this particular section lies in the quality of the atmosphere at such a height. Even the naives of that district surfer from a species of suffocation called here seroche, when passing the mountains, and it is greatly feared that the skilled labor to be employed, necessarily foreign, will find it impossible to carry on the work. Several other impediments of a formidable character are to be met with, but nose are se serious as this tunnel. Mr. Meiggs, however, guarantees the censtruction of the work in fave years, and with the ample means at his command little doubt can be entertained regarding the fulliment of his promise.

All the other public works of importance throughout the republic are progressing with like rapidity. Peruvians now acknowledge, and apparently with satisfaction, that the example afforded to them by the americans now engaged in enterprises of this infusing energy and activity into their historio distory mode of operations. It has become an established fact that the great mass of the people now regard the success of this great system of communication st the main hope of the country. The appreaching exhaustion of the guano deposits renders it necessary to develop sems other means of acquiring riches, and this is only found in the cultivation of the immense ratural wealth abounding in all quarters of the north, the wine growers of the south, the mineration,

"HOW THE OLD THING WORKS."

Kelso On Post-Night Inspection of His

Command-A Gratifying Result. On Thanksgiving eve Superintendent Kelso summoned to his presence Inspectors Dilks, Walling and Jameson, and started upon a tour of inspection of the precincts. The Superintendent and Inspector Dilks covered the precincts on the west side, above Canal street, while the other inspectors covered the others. The object of the raid was to discover "how the old thing works" since the ill-advised grand roundsman system has been broken up. The result was of a gratifying character. All the captains and sergeants were at their posts, and as a general thing the men on post were vigilant and watchful. In a few instances patroimen were found in conversation with critzens or brother officers, speculating upon the appointment of the fourth Commissioner, of which they had not heard, but not for any lengthy period. The Superintendent received some kints as to what is necessary to make the force more efficient in the future, which he may embody in suggestions to the Board. Taken as a whole the Superintendent and his Inspectors were pleased with the manner in which the members of the force perform their duties, and the energy and watchfulness of the ward reindsmen in their supervision of the members of their respective plateous. the old thing works" since the ill-advised grand

THE -QUESTION OF WEITES AND BLACKS INTERMARRYING.

[From the Memohis Avaianche, Nov. 19.]
On the hight of the 22d of last June John F. Thomas, a white men, and Christy, a colored woman, yere arrosted by officers Dennis Roach and Patrick Kelly, at a house on Commerce street, second door east of Third, south side, upon the charge of "colabiting." They were carried to the station house, and upon a trait before the Recorder the next day were each fined twenty-five dollars. Neither of them paid the fine, and Christy, after two days incarcitation, obtained the money and was released. John F. Thomas remained there two weeks longer, doing eccasional work upon the "chain gang." At the end of that time he was released by a writ of n.beas corpus, Thus ended affairs in the Police Court. It is preary that Mr. Thomas was a soldier in the Confederate army, and that after the war he was married to this colored woman, Christy, in the colored church on the corner of Main and Overton streets. He considered his arrest and that of his wife as unwarrantable, and consequently has brought suit in the United States Circuit Court for $25,000 dawages against the city of Memphis. This case will be a test one, lassmuch as the State of Tennessee prohibits the marriage of white and colored persons. The reason of their arrest in the drst instance is stated by the officers to have been caused by the complaint of heighbors.
